

Mark your calendars for this all-day event focusing on regional employers and diversity issues.

SEPTEMBER 25, 2018

WVU Erickson Alumni Center, Morgantown, WV

8:00am-4:15pm

The region from Charleston, West Virginia, to Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, is home to a cultural mosaic of talent, experience, abilities and educational levels. Employers are aware that diversity and inclusiveness drive innovation and productivity and that maintaining a diverse workforce is a major factor in remaining competitive in the global economy.

As West Virginia's land-grant institution, West Virginia University historically has taken the lead in developing programs and services to support the region and its communities. And as part of these efforts, the WVU Talent Strategy unit is proud to host this important event which will provide regional employers with information, tools and resources to help senior managers and talent management staff confidently move in a positive direction with their diversity initiatives.

6 PDC's – SHRM Continuing Education Units Available

Topics will include:

- The business case for a diverse and inclusive workforce
- Understanding unconscious bias in the workplace
- How to survive an Office of Federal Contract Compliance Programs (OFCCP) audit
- How salary history questions can perpetuate the gender wage gap
- The #MeToo movement - what it means for employers
- Disability etiquette in the hiring process
- Transitioning veterans into the workforce
- LGBTQ+ and gender issues at work and during the hiring process
- A special panel discussion to address comprehensive diversity topics

Please go to our website to view the complete agenda and complete registration.

<https://careers.wvu.edu/diversity-programs-and-resources/diversity-symposium-2018>